

A team of researchers and clinicians, led by Kate Dupuis, Innovation Leader in Arts and Aging at the Schlegel-UW Research Institute for Aging, is looking for Ontario long-term care homes to implement an 8-week intergenerational music therapy program, the “Intergenerational Jamboree”, for residents and staff.

If you are interested in bringing Jamboree to your home, and have a music therapist on staff to assist with the program, please complete this survey and a member of the research team will reach out to you!
